Elections PEI releases new election information videos.

Elections PEI is pleased to announce the release of an on-line video series called “Just a Moment with the CEO” at www.electionspei.ca. These videos were designed to help Islanders understand the processes of an election on PEI.

It is not only during an election event Elections PEI receives questions about the electoral process, but year-round. This series of over 20 videos hosted by Chief Electoral Officer of PEI Tim Garrity, was created to address these questions. “We often get phone calls or emails asking what our job is or specific questions about elections. These videos answer those questions, individually, and each is less than a minute in length,” says Mr. Garrity.

Some of the topics discussed in the video series include: What is the mandate of Elections PEI? How many people does EPEI employ to run an election? How are polling locations chosen? How does a Mail in Ballot option work? How are the Ballots designed? Who counts the marked ballots? And more.

Mr. Garrity says “Elections PEI is open and transparent. We invite the public to view this series, on our website, to educate, and help settle any misunderstandings or mysteries about how an election is administered.” He adds “The videos are not limited to only the topics featured on our website. Our office will continue to welcome additional questions, or video topic suggestions.” The public can suggest future video topics by calling 1-888-234-8683 or by email info@electionspei.ca.
